Subject: Building a team--looking for interns and research assistants

Good morning, all,

I am in the process of developing a team to address our growing research agenda. If you know of any students who are hoping to do a summer research project or who are hoping to get exposure to research methods, design, data collection and manuscript development please share my information. I am seeking highly organized, responsible students interested in disability inclusion in health science education to work approximately 8 hours per week (for 10-12 weeks) on one project (to be determined based on interest).

Thanks so much!
Lisa
