

THE UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT
MARK L. ROSEN LECTURE SERIES

Dreamland: America's Opiate Epidemic and How We Got Where We Are

SAM QUINONES is a journalist, storyteller, former LA Times reporter, and author of three acclaimed books of narrative nonfiction. His most recent book, Dreamland: The True Tale of America's Opiate Epidemic, received the National Book Critics Circle Award for nonfiction in 2015. Dreamland brings together three important stories to explain the opiate epidemic: the pharmaceutical industry's aggressive marketing of opiates, the collapse of the middle class in the rust belt, and emergence of decentralized distribution networks of Mexican heroin dealers.

April 5, 2017 • 3:30 p.m.

Grand Maple Ballroom

Dudley H. Davis Student Center

Book signing and reception immediately following

Sponsored by the Department of Political Science

For ADA accommodations: (802) 656-5665