Honoring Judy Shaw, EdD, MPH, RN, FAAP

Dr. Joe Hagan: Judy, it is really wonderful to be able to celebrate this with you. It reminds me of the first time we met when you came up here for one of your interviews and you were planning on having dinner with the Guillots and they said come join us. Joyce and I sat with Ann, Frank and you and Chris at Church and Main and you tried to explain to me what VCHIP was going to be, and who knew! As people are listening to all of the great things you've done and the kindness of Wendy in talking about the things that I was able to do with you and Paula, I've been pondering on what you've done in these multiple groups. What's the common factor of all the stuff you've done with us and with NIPN and as your consulting role and mentoring with other improvement networks? You're like the glue. Your warmth, your organization skills, all those books that you keep, all those records you keep, all the binders. You are the gorilla glue that allowed Bright Futures 3rd and 4th editions to happen. It has been a treasure to work with you and what a great mentor you have been to all of us including me. Thank you.
